Secy. Camden Sommers Arranges for Exhibition of Frank Yoachim, at New Fair in September.

Secretary Camden Sommers, of the West Virginia Fair Association, which holds its annual meeting on its new fair grounds east of the city Sept. 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6, made arrangements while in Johnstown, Pa., a day or so ago, with Mr. Longbottom, of Chester, Pa., who has a splendid string of ten trotters and pacers, to have him bring his horses to Clarksburg and exhibit them during the fair.

Among these horses is Frank Yoachim, the champion half-mile track performer of the world. Mr. Longbottom will exhibit this remarkable animal at the fair and he agrees to drive the wonderful pacer a mile in 2:05 providing the day is fair and the track in good shape.

The showing of this wonderful horse and the others owned by Mr. Longbottom will be a big attraction among the many that will be shown at the fair and Mr. Sommers showed genuine enterprise and hustle when he closed arrangements with Mr. Longbottom.

IN MEMORIAM

Of the Late Miss Grace Markert, Killed in Trolley Wreck.

There is a Reaper, whose name is death, And with his sickle keen He reaps the golden grain at a breath, And the flowers that grow between.

But not in cruelty, not in wrath, The reaper came that day, 'Twas an angel visited the green earth, And bore our Grace away.

In the death of Grace Markert, daughter of Mrs. Anna Markert, who was killed instantly in the trolley wreck just east of Clarksburg, July 7, 1907, we have been called to mourn for a loving daughter, sister, friend and classmate. Class No. 5, of the Central Presbyterian Sabbath school will not soon forget her faithfulness there, as she had not been absent but one Sunday in a little over two and one-half years. Her love for Bible study was unusual for one so young. On the day of her death, a few hours before the trolley accident, she was in her accustomed place. The lesson was intensely interesting, and at the close of it she expressed a desire to remain hours longer to continue the study. The subject was the wanderings of the Israelites from Egypt to Canaan, the promised land, and it was likened to our life, which is only a few years wandering here, with the promised land, Heaven, at the end. Something was said in regard to the brevity of our wandering life, that none of us would be here long, but, alas, we did not realize that the promised land was just seven hours distant from her; neither do we know when we may be called. But as she remarked to a friend on Saturday evening, about twenty-four hours before her death, in speaking of the thunder storm that then prevailed in the city, that "accidents may occur at any time, but it matters little just so we are ready."

She was young, not quite sixteen, but her zeal for missions will be an inspiration to those who knew her love for the cause. She had caught the spirit of the Master, who said, "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature," and it may be truly said "She hath done what she could to further this cause."

Friends and classmates, though young and blessed with blooming health, let us watch, for we know neither the day nor the hour when the Son of Man cometh.
